1250	ND	The surname 'de sancho Li###' found in century xiiij as describing the patrons of the church belonged to the earls of Northampton; it is generally rendered Senliz and is derived from a place about 30 miles NE of Paris, whose Latin name was Civitas silva nectensiensis which accounts for another variation of the same surname de silva nectis . Their shield was Ar; 2 bars gu fretty or with 3 fleur de lis gu in chief: some allusion being intended to Senlis . The surname de bella fago seems to have survived in Behoz . The Senliz family became closely connected with the Fitzwalter family (of Dunmow, Essex) who had representations in North Luffenham.
