N. Front of the Bishop of Lincoln Palace, now the Hospital at Liddington

Mr. URBAN,

May 11.

THE town of LYDINGTON, in Rutlandshire, formerly more considerable than at present, is situate in the hundred of Wrangdike, in the South part of the county, and near the Eastern edge of Leicestershire, about three miles South of Uppingham. In Domesday Book it is written Lidenstone, and reckoned as part of the bishoprick of Lincoln, in the county of Northampton; of which, till the reign of John, Rutlandshire made a part. Edward III. a. r. 3, granted Henry Burghersh, then bp. of Lincoln, free warren in this manor, which continued annexed to the see till the reign of Edward VI. when bishop Holbech gave it up to the Crown, but on what condition does not appear. It was granted 2 Edward VI. to Gregory lord Cromwell and his wife for their lives, during the king's pleasure; and, 5 Edward VI. the reversion in fee to Sir William Cecyl, lord Burghley, whose son Thomas was, 3 James I. created earl of Exeter; and in this family it still remains. This Thomas, earl of Exeter, about the year 1602, converted part of the bishop of Lincoln's palace here into an hospital for a warden, 12 poor men, and two women nurses, by the name of Jesus hospital; which foundation still subsists. This building is on the North side of the church-yard, the South front of which is here represented (plate I.) Behind is a cloister, and between the chimneys a window under a pediment, 4 doors and a porch, stone steps ascending to the hall, in the windows of which are the red rose crowned, and several times repeated, D'N'S EXALTATIO MEA, and DELECTARE IN DOMINO, a border of crosses moline A. and S. and a saltire A. and E. between 4 fleurons G. the arms of bishop Longland, fig. 1. There were, in Wright's time, those of bishop Ruffel, a chevron between three roses, fig. 2.

In the window of the warden's room, on a label, O LUX PREFVLGENS ENVSTA REX SINE MANERIS EM ORATE.

A bishop in a red rochet and mitre, jewels on his hands, kneeling and praying, holding a crozier with a scroll round it, EGNO RESIDENS O DIVINA PATRONA PARADISI GAVDIA DONO ET LIMS. Over the chimney 3 roses, perhaps the arms GENT. MAG. June, 1796.

of bp. Ruffel, but without the chevron.

In the hall lies a folio Bible inscribed, "Liddington hospital Bible, by John Clare, esq. steward to lord Exeter;" and a written prayer for the hospital read with the rest of the service by the warden. At the entrance to the church-yard is a stone watch-tower.

The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, consists of a body on 5 pointed arches, clustered columns, and 5 square clerestory windows. Two aisles. In the East end of the South aisle a piscina, a perk over it, and two on each side of it. In the East end of the North aisle is a perk and no piscina. Door to loft, and steps to rood-loft.

On the floor, the brass figure of a woman in the veil head-dress, thin meagre visage, mitten sleeves, belt and cordon.

In the South wall of the chancel a small window low as a door.

Three steps lead up to the altar on the chancel floor.

Three seats and a piscina are in the South wall.

A brass figure of a man in hair, fur gown, long loose sleeves furred at the end, long close sleeves, a woman in the veil head-dress, fallen cape to gown, furred cuffs, long belt, and cordon, fur falls from the hips. Below, 5 sons and 10 daughters.

Arms, twice, on a chevron 3 roundels between 3 birds. Two shields gone. Here lyeth Helyn Harvy, the wyf of Robert Harvy, gentelman, whch decessyd on Whittsonday, in the yere of our lord God a° 1530. CCCXXXIII. on whose soule God have mercy. Amen.

The epitaph on Edward Watson, secretary to three bishops of Lincoln, who died 1530, mentioned by Mr. Wright, p. 81, is still remaining.

Here is a school, the master's salary 6l. 14s. 8d. for five boys; to which a lady left 300l.; the interest of which, much improved, arising from land, is for the benefit of three parishes, Nottingham, Lenton co. Nottingham, and Liddington.

The church is a vicarage, a prebend of Lincoln, the corps whereof consists of the impropriation and advowson, valued, 1534, at 20l. 10s.; now, in the King's books, at 20l.

A list of the prebends may be seen in Willis's Lincoln, p. 209—212. The vicarage vicarage was endowed so early as the reign of Henry III. and consisted in altarage and all the small tithes of Lydington, except those of the bishop's court (curia), and of all mills in the parish, and in two marks a year from the churches of Caldecot and Snelleston. Valued altogether at 8l. 2s. (Wright, p. 81). Clear yearly value, 43l. 17s. 1d. being a discharged living; and, though in the diocese of Peterborough, exempt from the jurisdiction of that see, being a peculiar of the church of Lincoln (Baçon, 849).

Caldecot church, dedicated to St. John, stands at the South-east extremity of the village, consists of a nave and chancel (the latter lower than the former, having only an East and two South windows), a slender tower embattled, with a stone spire having windows in it. The nave has a South aisle, and a stone, dated 1648, fixed at the East end of the roof of the nave. In the South wall of the chancel, two pointed stalls and a square piscina. A locker at the back of the communion-table, and another in the North wall. The nave has two pointed arches on octagon pillars; the font is octagon. In the South aisle is a long pointed piscina. This is a chapel annexed to Lydington, served by Mr. Graham, of Gretton, patron. The present lord of the manor is the earl of Exeter.

In Fitzherbert's Natura Brevium, p. 184*, is a writ of nuisance, directed to the sheriff of Rutland, authorizing the bishop of Lincoln to disannul (prostertere) the market at Uppingham, set up unjustly to the prejudice of the free market of C, bishop of Lincoln, by P. de M. (Peter de Montfort). Mr. Wright supposes this writ of the time of Henry III. when Peter de Montfort was lord of the manor of Uppingham.

carved, and has some deeply-engraved characters withinside of it, I have inclosed a drawing (pl. I. fig. 3) of the ring and characters as near as I could take them, hoping you will insert them in your valuable Magazine for an explanation from some of your learned correspondents. If I mistake not, the words are en non an; and the ring has been originally a new-year's gift.

Fig. 4, which is also in my possession, was found, some time since, at Belgrave, near Leicester. J. TAILBY,

ABOUT the year 1731, a brass seal, of which the impression is inclosed (fig. 5), was dug up in a garden in the Friar-lane, at Leicester, belonging to a house of Mr. Simpson, on which site had formerly stood a priory of Grey friars. In the centre, under a rude Gothic arch, *IP*S, and round it, EST AMOR ME, making, when complete, Iesus est Amor meus, an inscription not unfrequent on old monuments. J. N.

A topographical description of Lyddington and its Hospital.

The town of Liddington, in Rutlandshire, formerly more considerable than at present, situate in the hundred of Wrangdike, in the South part of the County, and near the Eastern edge of Leicestershire, about 3 miles South of Uppingham. In Domesday Book it is written Lidentone, and reckoned as part of the bishopric of Lincoln, in the County of Northampton; of which, till the reign of John, Rutlandshire made a part.

Edward III. A. r. 3, granted Henry Burghersh, then Bishop of Lincoln, free Warren in this manner, which continued annexed to the fee till the reign of Edward VI. To Gregory Lord Cromwell and his wife for their lives, during the King's pleasure; and, 5 Edward VI (1551/2). The reversion in fee to Sir William Cecyl, lord Burghley, whose son Thomas was, 3 James I (1605/6), created earl of Exeter ; and in this family it still remains. This Thomas, earl of Exeter, about the year 1602, converted part of the bishop of Lincoln's Palace into a hospital for a warden, 12 poor men, and two women nurses, by the name of Jesus Hospital ; which foundation still subsists. This building is on the north side of the churchyard, the South front of which is here represented (plate I.).

Behind is a cloister, and between the chimneys window under a pediment, 4 doors and a porch, stone steps ascending to the hall, in the windows of which are the red Rose crowned, and several times repeated:
